Local Hiring Preferences:

Your Rights as a Job Seeker in the CNMI

Under CNMI labor laws, citizens, CNMI permanent residents, and U.S. permanent residents are given preference for employment in the private sector workforce. This policy ensures that local job seekers have access to opportunities that support the Commonwealth's economy and provide a U.S. standard of living.

While some employers may prioritize these groups, all job seekers are encouraged to apply and explore available opportunities. The CNMI Department of Labor is here to help you navigate the job market and succeed in your career!
